JESTER VICTORY HAILED HERE

PEACE PARLEY HEARS
RED DEMAND FOR BIG
REPARATIONS RAPPED

AUSTRALIAN ASKS FOR STUDY OF WAR DEBTS;
MOLOTOV RETURNS FIRE

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(P)—An Australian delegate to the peace conference today proposed that Russia be called upon to "justify her reparations demands," and asked that special "on the spot investigation be made of the ability of former European enemy nations to pay the Soviet's $900,000,000 demands.

E. Ronald Walker made the proposal to the economic commission for the Balkans after the Italian commission had approved two more paragraphs of the preamble of the Italian draft treaty.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov responded:

"Australia has not had her fields, cities and industries devastated."

Reds Said "Lentent"

He described Russia as "lenient" in asking for $300,000,000 from Romania when "billions of dollars of damage has been done." Molotov pointed out that Russia had increased the time allotted for payment from six to eight years.

Russia has asked reparations from Romania, Finland, Hungary and Italy. The United States, Great Britain and France did not include reparations demands of any set figure in the draft treaties that the foreign secretaries conference prepared.

The Italian commission to date has passed on approximately 1.8 per cent of the entire document.

No progress whatever has been made on any of the other four treaties.

25 Words Adopted

Nearly three and a half hours were consumed in debate before 18 words of a Netherlands amendment and seven words of an Australian amendment were adopted by the Italian commission, and the fourth and fifth paragraphs of the treaty finally passed. There are more than 35,000 words in the five treaties.

American Planes,
Ready To Fight
Near Yugoslavia

UDINE, Italy, Aug. 26.—(P)—With machine guns loaded and uncovered American Flying Fortress arrived here from Vienna today with a cargo of mail and freight—the first American plane to fly the normal route from Vienna since the Yugoslavs shot down the transports en route this month.

The pilot, Lt. William E. Hutchins of Los Angeles, Calif., said he had orders to fly to Udine and back.

It was reported here that a Flying Fortress would henceforth make the run daily.

Hutchins said he flew at 10,000 feet "along the prescribed corridor, avoiding Yugoslav territory."

The bomber carried a nine-man crew, but no passengers. It was understood here that passengers will not be allowed on flights.

SEARCH GOES ON FOR
U. S. AIRMEN THOUGHT
LOST IN YUGOSLAVIA

BELGRADE, Aug. 26.—(P)—Rescue parties combed the Julian Alps today in a renewed search for two missing U. S. airmen while plans were completed to accord highest military honors to three of their comrades killed Aug. 19 when their transport plane was shot down by Yugoslav fighters.

The Yugoslav Fourth army, in whose area the plane crashed in flames, stood by on orders from the government to accompany the bodies of the trio from the village of Koprivnica to Belgrade.

EX-JUSTICE DEAD—James Clark McReynolds, implacable judicial critic of the New Deal up to his retirement from the U. S. Supreme Court in 1941, died last night at 84 after a year's illness. Death came at Walter Reed Hospital where McReynolds had been under treatment since Aug. 2. It was announced in a statement today by Brig. Gen. Walter C. Beach, his post commanding officer, who said he had suffered from an acute exacerbation (breakdown) of a chronic gastro-intestinal condition. (AP report and photo.)

Kilgore Resident Killed Here In
Bus-Car Collision

Harold Joyce Franklin, aged 22 years, of Kilgore, died in the Navarro clinic Saturday at 6:30 p.m. a half hour after the car in which he was riding collided with a collision involving a southbound Cottonland bus at the intersection of East Collin street and Highway 75. His death is the sixth automobile fatality in Navarro county during 1946.

James Henry Freeman, about 21, Mildred, companion of E. H. Miller, in the Navarro clinic with head and chest injuries, but his condition is not regarded as critical.

Eye-witnesses were quoted as saying that the car in which the two young men were riding was traveling in an easterly direction, while the bus was proceeding in a southerly direction. It was en route from Dallas to Houston. Bus officials said no passenger on the bus or the driver were injured by the impact.

Franklin, a former service man, was employed at Kilgore. He was discharged from the army last April. The deceased was a member of the New London Baptist church.

Surviving are his wife and a son,

"GREETINGS" MAILED
AS DRAFT RESUMES
OPERATION AGAIN

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(P)—Those presidential "greetings" to the malls again.

Shut down for two months, the draft machinery is chugging back into action.

Reception center lines will begin again next week, and by the end of September selective service is reasonably confident it will meet the Army's quota of 25,000 men in the 19-29 age group.

In June, while the whole future of the draft was up in the air, only 16,000 men were inducted. There were no teen agers among them. Congress finally compromised on that issue by exempting 18 years old but specifying those 18 were to be drafted.

During the July-August holiday, local boards have been registering and classifying men between 18 and 44 under instructions from Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director, to limit deferments individuals in activities "indispensable" to the "national existence."

Four new categories have just been added to the list of those entitled to "most serious consideration" for occupational deferments.

The opinion said "these unit votes also appear in the electoral

Navarro County Gives Big Majority To Jester; Vets
Winners In Most Races

Complete unofficial returns from the run-off Democratic primary election Saturday were tabulated at 9:45 p.m. Saturday night when Beauford, the final precinct, was reported.

Beauford H. Jester, local attorney and railroad commissioner, won a decisive nomination as the Democratic standard-bearer in the general election of November, tantamount to election in Texas, received 87 per cent of the votes in his home county when he was favored by 8618 voters.

His opponent, Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas, polled only 1298 votes. In other races of purely local variety, former servicemen in each instance were swept into office, maintaining the trend indicated strongly in the first democratic primary election late last month.

The Eldorado box, E. C. Hull chairman, was the first reported at 7 p.m., while twenty had been received at 7:25 p.m. The half-way mark was reached at 7:28 p.m. when the twenty-third box came

OVER 36,000 RATS, HALF MILLION
FLEAS INFEST CORSICANA, SAYS
CITY SANITARIAN AFTER STUDY

It is estimated that there are two rats for each human being in Corsicana or approximately 36,000 rats. Each of these rats carries about 15 fleas. That is 540,000 fleas & lots more than a half million.

The estimate was made by Loretta Gaillard, city sanitarian from figures compiled by the United States biological survey. It is an estimate of the number of rats only and does not include mice.

The public can see what a job we have on our hands when we set out to make Corsicana free from rats," Miss Gaillard said. "We are going to put out poison in all the business houses on Sept. 3 and we hope that we will get the co-operation of every business head in town. Aside from the health menace, rats are an economic drag on the city."

The Texas State Department of Health estimates that each rat consumes $2 worth of food each year and is responsible for the destruction of $8 worth of additional property.

"That means that rats consume $76,760 worth of food each year in Corsicana and destroy a total of $270,000 worth of property," Miss Gaillard said.

She pointed out that she was

DIPLOMATS VIEW "RELEASE" OF LITVINOFF FROM RUSSIAN POST
AS SIGNIFICANT OF DISPUTES

By DWIGHT MACKENZIE
Al. Foreign Affairs Analyst.
Diplomats in both Washington and London are viewing the "release" of Maxim Litvinoff from his position as Soviet deputy foreign minister as having a special significance in the present strained situation between the Russian bloc and the Western Allies.

American diplomatic circles in Washington interpret this development as a blow at Russian co-operation with the United States and Britain. London also apparently viewing the change through dark glasses, notes that Litvinoff long has been an advocate of collective security and close relations with England.

Perhaps it's possible to exaggerate the importance of the old revolutionary's "release." He is 70 years old, and I happen to know that he is far from being a well man. Be that as it may, whether he is brought out because of his beliefs, or because of his health, it's safe to assume that the Soviet government does contemplate a more vigorous or perhaps more

COLLEGE HOUSING

Unless some miracle of construction occurs between now and the opening of college terms in September, a good many veterans will not be attending classes for lack of a roof. So far only 11,000 of the 103,000 temporary housing units authorized for student veterans by the government have been completed. Another 18,000 may be finished this month, and the same number in September, but the most optimistic total is far from the number of homes needed.

This type of housing, according to the Federal Public Housing authority, consists of war housing projects or barracks which are moved to college campuses. The college is to take care of the preliminary work of having plumbing, electricity and telephone lines installed. In many cases the college has been slow in achieving those preparations, because of the usual material and labor shortages.

Besides these units provided by the government are all sorts of homes for veterans devised by desperate college officials who have combed the countryside. But the situation is so strained, ex-GI's bound for study had better make doubly sure of a place to live before they uproot their families and start for the campus.

LIFE ON MARS

The Russians are reviving the old idea that there may be life on the planet Mars.

Prof. M. Tikhov, of the Kazakh Academy of Sciences, is the newest advocate of the theory, basing his belief on Mars' well-known change of color throughout the year, part of it being green in summer and brown in winter.

This would argue for vegetable life, but not necessarily anything more advanced.

The original suggester was an Italian, Giovanni Schiaparelli, who detected lines which he called "canali" or "channels," and which he thought might have an intelligent origin. The Italian word was mis-translated as "canals" by many people and the notion of Mars as a populated planet had many supporters. The chief was an American, the late Percival Lowell, who for years studied Mars from his observatory in the clear atmosphere at Flagstaff, Ariz. He thought that the canals were for irrigation purposes, bringing water from polar icecaps.

Later astronomers have come to regard the canals as huge cracks rather than the products of intelligent beings. It will be interesting if Prof. Tikhov has any arguments to the contrary apart from that of Martian color changes.

NEW TESTAMENT

For more than eight years a committee of nine theologians headed by Dean Luther A. Weigle of Yale Divinity School has been working on a translation of the New Testament. One of these men W. Russel Bowie, a professor at Union Theological Seminary, tells in the Atlantic Monthly of their work and its result, which is published this year as the Revised Standard Version.

The translation of the Bible which has long been accepted as standard is the King James Version, translated from Hebrew and Greek by scholars who possessed great gifts as writers and used the beautiful prose common to those who wrote in Shakespeare's time. Several modernized versions have been brought out in this century, but none has

BABY'S ARRIVAL

When first a little child arrives
To bless the home and all Within it,
Changes are made in many lives
In that divinely holy minute.
The wife will henceforth mother her.
With all the cares that mothers
bother:
The man who paced the hall! Ah,
he,
Will evermore be known as father.

But something more than human lives
Is touched with grace and set to glowing:

The house to which that babe
arrives
Is richer made by God's bestowing.
There'll be a line beyond the door

For little bonnets, slips and dresses;
And playthings strewn about the floor,
And ribbons gay for curly tresses.

As time goes by, the walls will wear
The smudgy prints of sticky fingers.

At table soon a white high chair.
How long the memory of it lingers!

Close at her side at meals they sat.
Tugged at her sleeves, with Jelly messes them;

But oh, she never minded that,
So happy, she, that we possessed them.

The rug, no doubt, will thin a bit
Beneath the feet of children racing.

But she will answer: "What of it?
Such wear, no dwelling is disgracing."

She'll tell the captious, churlish mind
That sees things broken ere they're paid for,
For children was the home designed;
To keep them happy it was made for.

taken the place of the Bible which has influenced the style of all the really great writers. However, important manuscripts have been brought to light which were not known in 1611, or even a generation ago.

The work of these scholars, a labor of love, has been carried through to satisfy, as Dr. Bowie says, "the continuing desire for a translation that will be as nearly as possible exact and authoritative and yet will attain a literary distinction which may reflect for our age its truest and most noble speech." The committee hopes that this New Testament will be charitably received and tested by Christian folk everywhere.

UNLUCKY MOMENTS

It is hard to be successful in almost everything and then be remembered chiefly for one failure. That was true of the late Tony Lazzeri. For 12 years he played with the New York Yankees with such hitters as Ruth, Gehrig and DiMaggio, and was feared almost as much as these sluggers. Yet his best remembered game is that in the 1926 world's series when Grover Alexander struck him out at a crucial point in the crucial game.

The drama of the situation is probably the reason. That accounted for the fame of Fred Merkle, hero of many a baseball battle in the early part of the century, who is remembered not for his successes, but for his failure to touch second base in the deciding game of the pennant race.

It is not fair, but it happens outside of baseball, too.

TIN CANS

Tin plate is so scarce that much food which should be preserved will go to waste this year. The United States is now producing 85 per cent of the world's supply of plate, 15 per cent of which goes to foreign food canners, but the amount shipped is only one-third of the amount needed, according to the magazine World Report.

European countries which used to produce tin plate for themselves and South America can meet only a fraction of the demand. In America, supplies of tin are adequate so far, but the strip steel used as the base for tin plate is scarce.

Tin can salvage is just as important now as it was during the war.

The skinless potatoes of the near future will bring one more breakdown of kitchen traditions. Sounds like a plot to undermine the paring knife makers.

Why say rag weed, when you get hay fever from am-brosia antemusifolia?

Six congressmen, including two veteran representatives seeking renomination and four freshmen, hold apparent victories based on last returns.

They are:

5th District—J. Frank Wilson,

Dallas attorney, who will succeed veteran Rep. Hattie W. Summers, who did not ask reelection.

6th District—Col. Olin Teague, war hero from College Station who will replace Luther A. Johnson of Corsicana, who resigned recently to become a judge of the Federal Court of Tax Appeals.

9th District—Rep. Joseph J. Mansfield, 85-year-old representative, oldest member of Congress who won a hard fought battle for renomination to his sixteenth term.

12th District—Wingate Lucas,

Grapevine attorney and war veteran who will succeed another veteran congressman who did not file for reelection, Rep. Fritzi Lanham of Fort Worth.

13th District—Holds Lead

15th District—Rep. Milton H. West of Brownsville, who went to Washington when John Nance Garner became vice-president.

16th District—John Nance Garner, 85-year-old mother, Mrs.

George T. Jester, whose husband

once served Texas as a lieutenant governor. There was excitement in Corsicana the night my husband was elected to the Lieutenant governorship, just as tonight,

she reminisced.

Texas Governor.

"Corsicana has given Texas a governor," she said. "As my mother, I am proud of Beauford's

Christian character and his devoted attention as a son. May God guide him as he governs the people who through their votes have given him this honor."

There were hundreds of others, friends and relatives who queried through the reception room for a friendly word with Beauford

Jester. There was 77-year-old Rachel Blue, negro maid at the YMCA, who pinned diapers on him as a baby; there was Fred Elmer,

president of the Republic

National Bank of Dallas; then

Mrs. Josie Halbert, Tom Yon-

gon, Sydney Marks, Floyd Smith,

Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Polk, Sr.

Wilson and Mable Bonner, Mrs.

Billie Polk, Mr. and Mrs. W. H.

Norwood and hundreds of others who knew the governor as a struggling young lawyer, finally

Saturday night a governor.

"Boss" is Winner.

Mrs. Delphia Scarborough, long-time secretary in Jester's local law office, and Caroline Roget, his Austin secretary, joined Col.

Paul Brown, manager of the Jester-for-Governor headquarters. In good wishes came "Boss" victory.

Good wishes came from telephoners and telegram from all parts of the state, and many points in the nation. John Boles, movie actor friend of the new governor, wired and telephoned congratulations to his former University of Texas friend from Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Jester's campaign managers and field workers came from far-off points to partake of the election feast, and from the state's big newspapers and wire service came representatives of the Texas press.

When the older Jesters finally went to bed to dream of the governor's chair and the governor's mansion in the early hours of Sunday morning, the new governor was thinking of the problems which faced his state, young Boles envisioned long winding stairway at the governor's mansion made for good sliding doors, Barbara had a fondness for sleeping in the famous Sam Houston bed, Joan hoped to remain in Corsicana and graduate with her classmates, and Grandmother Jester said a little prayer for the success of her son. All was well in Corsicana and Texas.

Winner Of Dallas Congress Race Is Navarro Countian

J. Frank Wilson, native of Corsicana, Saturday was nominated as Congressman from the Fifth (Dallas county) district to succeed the veteran Hatton W. Summers who was not a candidate for re-election. He defeated the colorful Sarah T. Hughes in the run-off primary.

Wilson lived in Corsicana until he was 12 years of age, at which time his family moved to West Texas. He graduated from Baylor University in 1923 and had practiced law in Dallas for a number of years.

Wilson is a cousin of J. N. (Joe) George of Blooming Grove and Edward George of Corsicana.

Shortage Of Men Debunked; Enough To Go Around Yet

Democrats Join GOP In Rapping Truman Economy

By CLAIR JOHNSON
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—
Census figures showed up today as so much romantic sabotage as one reports that the war left a scarce supply of single males.

On the contrary the gals have an edge in the marriage odds.

The statistics show that in the marriageable age groups there are more single men than single women.

"There still are more than enough to go around," Dr. Hope T. Eridge, census bureau statistician, told a reporter.

Right now the figures show 1,500,000 or more single, eligible males.

Four key party members in congress issued a statement terming the presidential action "without either constitutional or statutory authority."

"Unwarranted Power."

They described it further as "an assumption of unwarranted and drastic power" and issued a call for a national protest meeting in New Orleans September 10.

The four are Sen. President McKellar (D-Tenn.); Acting Chairman Overton (D-La.) of the senate commerce committee; Chairman Mansfield (D-Texas) of the house rivers and harbors committee; and Chairman Whittington (D-Miss.) of the house flood control committee.

The aroused Democrats invited Republican members of their committees to join them in the protest meeting.

Republicans Take Issue.

Several Republicans have taken issue with Mr. Truman since he announced his revision of the budget earlier this month in an effort to bring it into balance either this fiscal year or next.

In their pot-shot at Mr. Truman's fiscal intentions, the four democrats stated:

"The declared purpose of the President to balance the budget and to create a substantial surplus to be used in the reduction of the national debt cannot well be effected by the cancellation of the expenditure of $300,000,000 for urgently needed river and harbor and flood control work, especially in view of the tremendous expenditures amounting to billions of Dollars, representing unnecessary extravagances, which have been encouraged and approved by the President."

Disasters Feared.

The said that delay in proceeding with some projects may result in dangerous floods or other disasters.

Another phase of Mr. Truman's economy program drew a wary comment, meanwhile, from Gen. Carl Spaatz, army air forces commander who announced that a 20 per cent cut in AAF civilian employees will reduce the number from 163,000 to 131,000 by January 1.

COUNTY 4-H BOYS, GIRLS TO ATTEND ROUNDUP AT A&M.

Navarro county 4-H club boys and girls will attend the Texas 4-H Round-up Aug. 27-30 at College Station. Two boys and two girls have been chosen by Frank M. Gracey, assistant county agent, and Miss Frances Riley, assistant county home demonstration agent.

Selected on a basis of accomplishments in 4-H club work are James Clarkston, Roane; Billy Earl Watson, Barry; Patay Braly, Barry; and Betty Daniel, Navarro. Sponsors will be Don Palmer of Frost and Miss Virginia Ferguson of Navarro.

Miss Vera Sned, county home demonstration agent, and H. C. Robinson, county agent, will also be in the party with Miss Riley and Gracey for the four-day round-up. J. P. Schmidt, supervisor of Farmer's Institute and professor of rural sociology extension with the University of Ohio, will instruct leadership training programs for the adults and direct panel instructions.

Iris Davenport, representative from Southern Agriculture magazine will instruct club girls. The Navarro county girls were chosen primarily on berry demonstration. Classes for girls will include handcraft, good grooming, and making corsages. Boys will receive instructions in beef and dairy cat-

Let a Physician Do the Diagnosing

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

What you think is the source of your malady and what the doctor says may be diametrically opposite, and of course calls for different treatment.

The doctor's diagnosis may relieve your mind of vague fears, will certainly lead to scientific and accurate treatment and hasten recovery.

To daily around with symptoms but half understood, to accept the advice of friends or of family, is to delay proper treatment and render convalescence too long postponed.

Let the doctor diagnose. He is trained for the job. Let a pharmacist trusted by physicians fill the prescription. He too is trained for his job.

Former Residents East Central Texas Shivering In August

While their parents shivered in East Central Texas' summer heat, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hutchins, former residents of this area, are "bearing their heaviest winter woolens, and still shivering in the far reaches of Alberta, Canada."

In a recent letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berry of Purdon, Mrs. Hutchins, the former Margarette Berry, pointed out the weather contrast from her present home in Medicine Hat, Alberta.

Enclosed with the letter was a newspaper clipping explaining the work of the horseback riding club arena on new Highway 31 Friday and Saturday nights beginning at 8 o'clock.

The two nights of Wild West atmosphere will be preceded by a gigantic street parade in the business section of the city Friday at 4 o'clock. Before the first rodeo,

July 4, the club aggregated the largest number of horseback riders in the parade history of the city as approximately 150 joined in a colorful exhibition.

Fans will be treated to six big events—bareback bronc riding, jinny bull riding, calf roping, calf belling, wild cow milking, and bull riding.

In addition to these fast-paced events, there will be three specialties—Tiger football squad, calf scramble, a cow loving event, and a dark horse on a dark mule.

The Tiger girls scramble will be built around entrants from the football squad of Senior High calf to be the owner.

In the cow loving contest, the same ornery Brahma cow will have a prize tied in her ear and the contestant to grab the prize will have to give the critter some old fashioned lovin' to nab that event.

The dark boy on a dark mule event will attract a number of spectators who remember the recalcitrant mule at the last showing that refused to be ridden; then refused to be penned. Entry fees in the calf roping will be $5 and $3 in all other events.

ARTIFICIAL FISH-RAISING MAKES COLEMAN COUNTY MECCA TEXAS SPORTSMEN SEEKING FINNY GAME

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

A state legislature in 1945 passed a law that allows Coleman county residents to sell fish. You can't do that elsewhere in Texas without a license.

And now the ranchers of Coleman county have so much fish they are, in some instances, augmenting their incomes by selling fish commercially and renting fishing permits to visitors. In fact, some are going into it on a big scale, plan to invite nimrods from Dallas, nearby areas to come to Coleman to catch fish.

Some Areas Blocked
The bigger ranchers still don't encourage fishing, because the sportsmen stumble over their cattle and cows. They have "no fishing" signs up, which look funny in the middle of the prairies.

The pond project was first launched in 1944 by the Coleman Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been handled throughout by Joe C. Tinney, in charge of soil conservation work in cooperation with the central Coorado soil conservation district. State hatcheries provided fish free, the government helped finance the ponds, and farmers and ranchers are thoroughly sold on the project.

The water that fills them is surface water from rains. And to keep the water good, they've stocked it with fish, mainly black bass and blue gill and bream.

Fish multiply amazingly (3000 eggs at a spawning per fish, for example), which makes rabbits seem second rate, and the ponds became cluttered. They were good fish too, for ranchers fertilized the ponds specifically. A one-year-old bass caught in a pond was 14 inches long and weighed two pounds. A two-year-old bass caught in a nearby stream was eight inches long, weighed two ounces.

There were so many fish they became an economic waste, so the

They raise a lot of livestock in Coleman county, and stock has to have water. So they began with government aid to build tanks and ponds. There are more than 1,000 ponds, some as large as 50,000,000 gallon jobs, in Coleman county now. They're building more.

The water that fills them is surface water from rains. And to keep the water good, they've stocked it with fish, mainly black bass and blue gill and bream.

Fish multiply amazingly (3000 eggs at a spawning per fish, for example), which makes rabbits seem second rate, and the ponds became cluttered. They were good fish too, for ranchers fertilized the ponds specifically. A one-year-old bass caught in a pond was 14 inches long and weighed two pounds. A two-year-old bass caught in a nearby stream was eight inches long, weighed two ounces.

There were so many fish they became an economic waste, so the bigger ranchers still don't encourage fishing, because the sportsmen stumble over their cattle and cows. They have "no fishing" signs up, which look funny in the middle of the prairies.

LIVING STANDARD RETURNED SOLDIERS HIGHER, MAYOR SAYS

One reason for the current housing shortage is that the army increased the standard of living of its members so much that they are unwilling to return to their old ways of life, Mayor John C. Calhoun said Friday.

"Many veterans are unwilling to return to the shacks where they lived before they went into the army," he said. "There are plenty of these houses outside the town, but the veterans want a better place to live. They have come to town and are seeking a place better than what they had before."

He said that many additional family units have also been created by the marriage of veterans while few new houses were built during the war.

"It's not that there are so many more people," he said, "but married couples don't want to live with their parents. They want a place of their own to live." Housing facilities that would accommodate these couples easily when they were single and living at home are no longer adequate because of the creation of new families.

The mayor said that this shortage is aggravated by the large number of people who come to town from the country during the war and rented or bought homes, making them no longer available to newcomers and returning veterans. He said that many cases of this were caused by the sons, who were the family breadwinners, going to war. The family discontinued farm work and moved to town to live on allotments.

"They aren't going back," he added, "and neither are the sons going back. They prefer to stay in town and work for wages."

George Nokes, Jr., has returned to the University of Texas after a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Nokes at Mildred.

Jelly Is Aid To Unique Garnishes For Summer Food

As a change from radish roses, carrot flowers and celery curls for garnishes, take a look at the sparkling food decoration that can be fashioned from jelly.

A glass of crabapple and a glass of blackberry jelly can be unmolded and cut into thin slices. These discs of jelly can be used to encircle a pork roast, the two kinds alternated, and each slice overlapping the other. With a bit of parsley added, it makes a colorful and original platter.

The band, under the direction of Lawrence Fauber, played "Men of Ohio," "Mothers of Democracy," "The Band Played On," and "The Washington Post March."

Rodeo Concessions

At the conclusion of the concert, plans for handling the concessions at the Corral Club rodeo were outlined and a number of members were appointed to handle the sales of cold drinks. The money earned by the Legion from the concessions will be used for the benefit of the Legion.

Use Melon Ball Cutter. A melon ball cutter can be used to fashion small rounds of jelly to place in the center of broiled peach or pear halves for a meat platter or to garnish fruit or cheese salads or sandwich leaves. Very pretty and very different! Cubes of jelly make eye-catching decorations over any whipped cream covered dessert.

There are at least fifteen different kinds of jelly available at the present time, although some of these may not have all varieties. While jellies are usually thought of as bread spreads, and are especially useful as such in these butter-troubled days, it's fun to explore their possibilities as garnishes and invent a few original ones while doing it!

Parents' Wedding Anniversary Date Of Son's Nuptials

Garland C. Kent, Jr., chose Saturday, August 24, the twenty-second wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland C. Kent, as his own wedding day and he and Miss Bernice Louise Bennington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bennington of Corbet, were united in marriage at 3:30 o'clock.

Summer blossoms adorned the Kent home and provided a colorful background for the ceremony which was read by Rev. Jack Goff.

The bride was attired in blue wool suit with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held, at which time the green and white embossed wedding cake was cut and served with punch.

In addition to members of the immediate families, Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Smith witnessed the rites.

After a short trip, the couple will return to Corsicana to make their home.

COMMANDER JACOBS, AMERICAN LEGION, NAMES COMMITTEES

at Galveston September 3-4 were appointed and Jacobs announced that anybody will be accredited to the convention who communicates to him before the date of its opening and expresses the intention of attending. He pointed out that the post is authorized, by virtue of its membership, to have 26 delegates at the convention.

Convention Delegates

Delegates appointed are: W. H. Tipton, L. V. Majors, Joe Daniel, Julius Jacobs, James C. Roberts, and M. M. Sanders.

Jacobs called the attention of the members to the possible need of an enlisted man for help in completing their applications for payment of furlough pay.

"I do not know if such a need really exists now," he said. "I thought at first that it would but the forms are so simple that a child can execute them without any trouble." He said that he had been called on to act as a notary public in the completion of the forms a number of times but added that a notary public can be found anywhere.

Assist With Forms

Several of the members replied that they had been called upon for help. Jacobs thereupon designated a number of volunteers to assist anybody who has trouble with the forms. These were: Joe Daniel, Seton Holsey, L. V. Majors, W. P. Murchison, and J. C. Moore. He said that he was also available.

The Veterans Administration and the United States Employment Service have expressed a readiness to help anybody who needs it with these forms," he said.

Somebody raised the point that a surprising number of veterans have lost their discharge papers or they have been destroyed in some way and asked what a veteran in this predicament should do.

"I'll have to write and find out," he said. "Then we will ask the Daily Sun to publish a little piece which allows promotion which would provide the enlisted man continuous hospitalization for 18 months or longer, has been wounded in combat and has been awarded the Purple Heart. He is promoted to the rank of private first class.

Houses For Veterans

Bill Elliott took the floor and asked the question to something about the failure of the government to act on applications from here for houses for veterans. He said that Hillsboro has already obtained 40 of the houses.

"They won't even show Corsicana the courtesy to answer our letters," he said. "We ought to do something about this kind of a situation. Somebody ought to be straightened out on this subject. I think that the American Legion should build a fire under whoever is responsible. If Hillsboro can get them, why can't we? Who is responsible?"

His attention was called to the failure of the city to find lots suitable for eight negro houses at a recent meeting of the city commission. It was explained that these houses and the construction of 30 units for white veterans at the base camp were the subject of discussion by the commission and that the government had not given the city adequate time, according to the commission.

Action Needed

He said in reply that this was an explanation of one condition but that he was principally thinking of houses the government had planned to erect here on lots purchased by veterans for sale to the veterans under the GI bill of rights.

"We need action," he said.

A committee composed of Elliott, Harry Lowe, and M. M. Sanders was appointed to investigate the situation of which Elliott complained and requested to prepare a resolution or take whatever other action deemed necessary to expedite the matter and determine where the responsibility for the delay rested.

CERTIFICATES TO REPLACE DISCHARGE PAPER AVAILABLE

Have you lost your discharge paper? You cannot collect the furlough pay voted to you by congress unless you have it or unless you had it recorded in the office of the county clerk before it was lost and can obtain a certified copy from the court clerk.

Julius Jacobs, commander of Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion, said today that many veterans here are stalled in their efforts to collect this pay because their discharges have been lost.

"The Veterans Administration office in the State National Bank building has application blanks which the veterans can fill out and send to Washington requesting papers showing evidence of military service that will be acceptable by the government," he said.

The government will not furnish a duplicate of the original discharge. It will only furnish a certificate in lieu of lost discharge. This certificate does not look as impressive as the original discharge and it does not furnish the wealth of information about the veteran's service history that is given on the discharge but it is acceptable by the government as evidence of service and payment of any claims arising out of service will be made on it.

"I suggest that all veterans who have not had their discharges recorded in the county clerk's office, do it at once," Jacobs said.

Tyson Will Head Local Delegation To Demo Meeting

Tom L. Tyson, local attorney, prominent Democratic leader and supporter of Beauford H. Jester, nominee for governor of Texas, Monday was selected as leader of the Navarro county delegation to the state Democratic convention in San Antonio, Sept. 10 at a meeting held at the courthouse. J. R. Patterson, Frost, county Democratic chairman-elect, who presided, also was recommended as a loyal leader for the entire convention.

A number of the delegates spoke relative to the selection of Tyson. J. J. Kelt, Chaffield, a former member of the Texas legislature, said that the delegation wanted a loyal Democrat and a loyal statesman.

Tyson said that the September convention ordinarily is the "governor's party" and spoke of the unique position the Navarro county delegation will occupy at the convention, since a Navarro countian is the governor-nominee. He spoke of a district caucus. Twenty-two members of the delegation were present.

"Then if they lose their discharges in the future, they will still have a record that will be acceptable for most purposes. This service is free."

Bill Bowman of Frost is a surgical patient at F. and S. Hospital.

NEW LEGISLATION IS SAID NOT TO SLASH VETERANS' SALARIES

New legislation establishing ceilings on job trainees' wages under the GI Bill definitely does not allow the employer to lower the veteran's pay, the Corsicana office of the Veterans' Administration said today.

The training division had reported several instances where firms felt they could reduce wages of trainees. This was contemplated, so the combined wage and subsistence for a married Veteran would not exceed the $230 maximum. The single veteran's pay was established at $175, figuring both his apprentice wage and subsistence.

"A firm approved for training veterans definitely is obligated to pay the veteran the same apprenticeship wage as non-veterans. What man receives in subsistence checks should not in any way influence what he is paid by the employer. The facts are that military service took three or four years of the veteran's life from his civilian training. If he hadn't been in uniform, the veteran trainee probably would have been joined in training by this time," a local official stated yesterday.

Firms violating the law by cutting pay are liable to have their approvals cancelled. At the same time, the VA said the new law specified that overtime was not to be counted in computing maximum pay.

Since the department of labor has set 40 hours as the normal work week, and all federal agencies operate under the same provision, what the veteran makes in excess of 40 hours is not counted in establishing his wage-subsistence ceiling.

If a veteran is paid $1 an hour apprenticeship wage and normally works 48 hours, his salary under the ceiling will be computed at $40 for that week. This, the VA feels, is putting him on the best basis the law will allow.

Another clarification was pointed out by the VA. If a married veteran drawing $90 a month subsistence is paid $120 training wages for a 40-hour week, he is $10 over the maximum allowed by the law. The man, however, will not lose the full amount of government subsistence. His full pay should be $120 from the company. It was before—and $80 from the government.

The VA warned both employers and veterans about reports on wage payments. Under the GI Bill, any veteran who knowingly accepts any allowance to which he is not entitled shall be ineligible for further payments.

The new law became effective Aug. 4. August 31 checks, covering the month, will not be affected by the change. September payments will reflect the reduced amounts for some of the 26,000 veterans receiving training in the 64 counties covered by the Dallas office. Disabled veterans were not included in terms of the bill.

Veterans studying in schools and supplementing their $90 and $60 subsistence checks by outside work also come under the ceiling. They will now report their earnings to the VA training officer who checks their progress at the school. There are 9,044 men and women in the Dallas region enrolled at this time for institutional training.

There will be no interruption in subsistence checks going out to veterans as a result of the new

Relative Of Local Residents To Sail For China Aug. 30

Miss Lois Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Glass of Port Worth, who was in Corsicana recently to visit in the home of the Will Taylor family and other relatives, is planning to return to Yanchow, China, on August 30th, according to state news dispatches.

Miss Glass is holding in preparation, as she is taking along her groceries and a cookstove.

It used to be, she related, that a missionary carried little more than a Bible abroad to an assigned missionary field. The religious worker usually took life at the distant as he, or she, found it.

But not Miss Glass. She's been to China before, in fact, was born in a mission at Lalchow. And she was educated through high school grades at the mission school at that place.

Attended Baylor University.

Miss Glass returned to the United States in 1927, attended Baylor University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, winning at the latter school a Master's Degree in missionary training.

Miss Glass will sail from Houston on August 30th aboard the Vema Lyles, and should reach Shaghai a month later.

It will be remembered that Miss Glass' mother was the featured speaker at the Woman's Missionary Society's regular meeting at the church on August 12th, and that she spoke to the Young Women's Circle of the Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cutles on the evening of the 12th.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LARRY LYNN AUERBACH FRIDAY

KERENS, Aug. 23.—(Spl.)—Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Friday at the First Baptist Church here for Larry Lynn Auerbach, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Auerbach. The youth died in Corsicana hospital Thursday at 3:45 p. m.

Dr. Elmer Pace, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Margaret Howell, Methodist pastor, conducted the rites. Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery, under direction of the Stockton Funeral Home. Fellow Boy Scouts served as honorary pallbearers.

The youth's parents moved to Kerens when he was a small child.

Survivors include, besides his parents, three sisters: Mrs. Marion Palmer; Mrs. Archie E. Massey, Kerens, and Mrs. Jim Orchard, Alamo; and two brothers, Glen C. Auerbach, Hobbs, N. M., and Don Lewis Auerbach, Kerens.

RESIDENCE BURNS RESULT OIL STOVE EXPLOSION FRIDAY

A frame house belonging to Dewey Tards located at 1602 West Sixth avenue was completely destroyed by fire started by the explosion of an oil stove Friday.

Fire Chief Howard P. Bivins said that he estimated the damage at $2000.

Firemen were summoned three miles north of Powell Friday to a fire in a barn belonging to Mrs. Mollie Kent. The barn and its contents, said to have been 700 bushels of corn and several tons of hay, were completely destroyed despite efforts of the firemen. A small garage located at 1320 West 10th avenue was completely destroyed Friday afternoon by fire. The building was ignited by a grass fire, according to firemen.

A small roof fire at 1500 East Colline was extinguished by firemen early this morning. Damage was said to have been small.

Three Corsicanans To Get NTSC Degrees

DENTON, Aug. 23.—(Spl.)—Three Corsicanans students attending North Texas State College have been listed among the 271 candidates for the bachelor's and master's degrees at the annual summer commencement exercises at North Texas State College on Aug. 23, according to President W. J. McConnell.

Guest speaker for the convocation will be J. W. Pender, director of the department of government, who will address the graduating class on "Most Valuable Piece of Real Estate in the World."

Of the total number of graduates, 176 students will receive the bachelor's degree, and 98 will be awarded the master's degree.
